

High school beefs up security after threat

Principal: police have increased presence until further notice

By Ben Kleppinger

STANFORD — Lincoln County High School is under increased law enforcement protection after officials say a student was threatened Feb. 6.

High School Principal Tim Godbey said a former family member called the student the morning of Feb. 6 and threatened to come to the school and harm the student.

"Once the student came to me and reported what happened, I immediately contacted law enforcement," Godbey said.

The school resource officer was busy handling another incident, so Godbey called Stanford Police Chief Keith Middleton, who sent Detective Barry Allen out to the school, Godbey said.

Parents of students were alerted to the incident that evening when the school district sent out automated phone calls letting them know there would be increased security.

"We felt that parents should be notified of that," he said. "I feel that it's important to keep our community informed."

Stanford Police Department has been providing extra police officers to patrol the high school, as well as the larger campus, including Lincoln County Middle School and Lloyd McGuffey Sixth Grade Center, Godbey said.

There has also been an increased law enforcement presence at Stanford Elementary because a bus the threatened student rides stops there.

The extra police presence will continue every day until officials determine it's no longer needed, Godbey

Trash rates go up for Stanford

By Ben Kleppinger
ben@theinteriorjournal.com

STANFORD — Residents of Stanford will pay about 25 cents more per month for trash pickup beginning in March.

Stanford City Council voted 5-1 Thursday night to approve a 2.5-percent increase in monthly rates for Republic Services, the city's contracted trash-pickup company.

City residents currently pay $9.85 monthly for trash pickup. The new 2.5-percent increase means a monthly cost of $10.10, which amounts to $3 extra per household per year.

Republic Municipal Representative Ron White initially asked council members to approve a 5-percent increase because rising costs of doing business are affecting the company's bottom line.

"We're not trying to be greedy," White said. "As you all are aware, the cost of fuel is going up, health insurance prices — there are so many things that affect us."

As evidence of the increased financial burden Republic is operating under,

Stanford Arts Center director to retire by May

By Ben Kleppinger
ben@theinteriorjournal.com

STANFORD — The director of the First Southern Community Arts Center intends to retire by the end of April, but members of Stanford City Council are reluctant to see him go.

Bob Swett, who began in his position as arts center director in 2011, submitted a letter to Stanford Mayor Bill Miracle Jan. 23 explaining his intentions to step down by May 1.

"At this time, I have lots of family health issues and other family situations that need attention and three parcels of land to help maintain," Swett wrote in the letter. "... About the 15th of March,

STANFORD — A Danville woman who was indicted for conspiring to kill the octogenarian mother of her former lover was sentenced to eight years in prison Friday for a burglary charge.

Jessica Callahan, 28, pleaded guilty Dec. 14 to one count of second-degree complicity to burglary.

At Callahan's formal sentencing Friday, her lawyer, Justin Genco, told Circuit Judge David A. Tapp he would not be seeking probation immediately because Callahan has at least one other felony charge pending against her in Boyle County.

Callahan is charged with third-degree rape in a 2011 case and identity theft in a 2012 case, according to Boyle County court records.

Tapp pointed out prior convictions for Callahan include multiple fourth-degree assaults, terroristic threatening and wanton endangerment.

Looking back at what made news in Lincoln County

20 Years Ago
Originally published Feb. 18, 1993

The big headlines 20 years ago concerned a big shake-up in Lincoln County politics, as three of the Lincoln school board's five members stepped down in order to pursue other elected positions in the county, and a fourth faced possible ouster because of state nepotism laws.

One of the three board members who stepped down — David Faulkner — is now a Lincoln County magistrate. And one of the new people appointed to the vacancies on the school board was Jim Kelley, who now serves as the school board's chairman.

Another board member in February 1993 was Tom Blankenship, who is now a board member once again.

Blankenship faced a battle for much of the year to keep his seat as chairman because of state nepotism laws that said he could not serve on the board while his brother worked as a teacher in the district.

Blankenship fought a suit filed by the state attorney general to have him removed from the board and filed a federal lawsuit contending the nepotism law was unconstitutional.

But in October 1993, the federal lawsuit was dismissed. Blankenship resigned his post a couple weeks later in order to avoid being removed by a circuit judge, which would have barred him from ever serving on the board again.

Blankenship was elected back onto the school board in November 2000 after his brother retired. He currently serves as vice chairman under Kelley. He was unopposed and re-elected to his post in November 2012.

The story below originally published in the Feb. 18, 1993, issue of The Interior Journal.

Three school board members stepping down to run for county office

All three school board members running for county office say they will give up their posts on the board of education to continue their campaigns.

The three, David Faulkner, Dennis Martin and William Napier, were forced to choose between the school board and running for another office by a state law that disqualifies holders or seekers of state or local offices from serving on the school board.

Their resignations will open up a month-long replacement procedure that will culminate in state Education Commission Thomas Boyesen appointing new school board members from among those who nominate themselves.

... Martin, whose district includes the McKinney precinct and Stanford precincts 3 and 4, gave his resignation effective immediately at last Thursday night's school board meeting.

A candidate for county judge/executive in the Democratic primary, Martin said he wanted to be sure that his service would not violate the law.

Faulkner submitted a written resignation that takes effect March 15, saying he wanted to insure adequate time to replace him without putting the school board in a position where it couldn't vote on anything.

Faulkner, also a candidate for judge/executive in the Democratic primary, said he had verbal assurance from the state education department and the attorney general's office that making his resignation effective a month into the future would not cause ouster proceedings to be instituted.

A story about school board members resigning was featured at the top of the Feb. 18, 1993, issue of The Interior Journal.

A board member who has had valid ouster proceedings filed against him can never seek the office again.

That's why Martin made his resignation effective immediately. He said that without a promise in writing that no ouster proceedings would be started, he preferred to resign at once.

Napier gave no indication of his plans at Thursday's meeting. He avoided questions on the subject and bolted out of the meeting as soon as it adjourned.

Tuesday, however, Napier said he planned to continue his run for the Republican nomination for county clerk and would resign his school board seat.

Just when, is another question, though. "I'm running for county clerk," Napier said Tuesday. "But I'm trying to get some things done (on the school board) before I resign." He declined to give any particulars on the things he wants to accomplish.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Follow moral rules laid out in Bible

While the people of Vicco, KY can be commended for protecting the rights of all citizens and taking care of their own people, we would be remiss to allow an emotion-packed letter or anything else to determine what is the standard for right and wrong. In fact, neither Chicago, New York City, or Washington can do that. No congressional law, Supreme Court ruling or even the President has that right. They can give their opinions like the writer of this article but that does not determine what is true nor what is right.

As a nation, we have the constitution and the Bill of Rights as a standard (at least until this present administration!). All of our federal laws, up till now, have been based on these documents crafted by much wiser people than we will every be again.

In a similar but much more powerful way, God through his word, the Bible, has given us standards by which to live. This standard has been written, ultimately, for the good of all people. Although many today would deny it, the Bible became the basis for much of our legal system.

For example, adultery (having sex with another's spouse) and fornication (having sex outside of marriage) are condemned throughout the Bible. Slowly, but surely, we have disregarded this standard to the detriment of all of society - 50%+ divorce rate, high teen pregnancy rates, etc. Likewise, God in the Bible condemns incest, homosexuality, and yes, even cross-dressing. It is, of course, very important to state that while God condemns these actions or "lifestyles" as we call them today, he still very much loves the people.

However, just because he loves them does not mean that he accepts what they do. Instead, he insists that everyone follow his ways and not visa versa. Whether we or the people of Vicco, KY decide to follow the truths that God has given us or not will never change those standards. Should we protect peoples' rights to live and work? Yes. Should we take care of people in need? Yes. Should we let any opinion change what God has said is right or wrong? Never!

All of us will be long gone while the Bible will remain as God's word to mankind. I would encourage everyone to consider God's opinion over that of any person, town, city, nation, court, or president.

Did not ghost-write letter to editor

Is Lincoln county, Kentucky still in the United States of America? Last week my sister Zelda Sneed had a letter in the I.J. She called me that day upset. (I was at the hospital with our dad.) She asked if I would get into trouble if she put a letter in the paper. My response was this is still the USA and she was entitled to her own opinion. If she wanted to write a letter then write one. Could I have stopped her? Yes probably. Why would I want to? This is the USA. For those of you that think I wrote her letter, clearly you do not know me very well! First of all I am very vocal with my opinions. Second of all I would sign My name to the letter. Third : If I were to write a controversial letter and did not want anyone to know I wrote it I Am SMART enough to use someone else's name besides my sister.

In Texas schools, failing grade for Bible courses

Fifty years ago, the U.S. Supreme Court struck down as unconstitutional the devotional use of the Bible by public schools, in its ruling on Abington Township v. Schempp.

But many school districts in the Lone Star State still haven't gotten the message, according to a report released last month by the Texas Freedom Network (TFN) entitled "Reading, Writing and Religion."

Conducted by religious studies professor Mark Chancey of Southern Methodist University, the study examines elective Bible courses offered in 57 Texas school districts and 3 charter schools and concludes that "evidence of sectarian bias, predominantly favoring perspectives of conservative Protestantism, is widespread." (The full report is available at www.tfn.org/biblecourses.) In other words, school officials in many parts of Texas convert public schools into Sunday schools in violation of the First Amendment's ban on government establishment of religion.

According to Professor Chancey, many Texas teachers with no training in the academic study of religion treat sacred events in the Bible as secular history, and use secondary sources that offer only one Christian interpretation of the Bible. The religious agenda that shapes many of these courses isn't subtle. For example, a supplementary text used in two districts informs students, on the inside front cover, that by studying the Bible they "will see the heart of God and the person of Jesus Christ revealed from Genesis to Revelation."

Public schools, of course, can and should teach students about the Bible – in history, literature and elective courses. But such teaching

INSIDE THE FIRST AMENDMENT

Charles C. Haynes
Guest columnist

must be educational, not devotional.

In Schempp, the High Court prohibited devotional Bible reading in public schools, but simultaneously encouraged appropriate inclusion of the Bible in the curriculum. Writing for the majority, Justice Tom Clark put it this way:

"[I]t might well be said that one's education is not complete without a study of comparative religion or the history of religion and its relationship to the advancement of civilization... Nothing we have said here indicates that such study of the Bible or religion, when presented objectively as part of a secular program of education, may not be effected consistently with the First Amendment."

Despite the Supreme Court's guidance about what is and isn't constitutional, many public schools continue to have a hard time getting the Bible right.

In recent years, religious conservatives as well as advocates of biblical literacy have urged states to support the creation of Bible courses. As a result, a growing number of states, including Georgia, South Carolina, Texas, Tennessee, South Dakota and Arizona, have passed legislation encouraging local districts to offer Bible electives.

The Texas "Bible bill" was passed in 2007 and like similar laws in other states was supposed to support Bible courses that are constitutionally and educationally sound. Thanks to the Texas Freedom Network and other First Amendment advocates, some safeguards were built into the legislation calling for teacher training in the academic study of the Bible and adherence to constitutional principles.

Unfortunately, the law hasn't worked. Most Bible electives in Texas created since 2007 are taught by unqualified teachers, using sectarian materials and promoting one religious interpretation of the Bible.

According to the TFN report, "the evidence suggests that these problems largely reflect a failure by state and local officials to implement provisions in the new state law that were designed to protect the religious freedom of students and help school districts construct academically and constitutionally sound courses."

The TFN study does have some good news. Professor Chancey found at least 11 Texas school districts with successful Bible courses, many using textbooks (The Bible and Its Influence; The Bible As/In Literature) which pass constitutional muster and which provide objective study of biblical literature.

As Justice Clark pointed out, biblical literacy is an important part of a good education. After all, knowledge of biblical stories and concepts contributes to our understanding of literature, history, law, art and contemporary society.

But when the Bible comes into the public school classroom, it must arrive through the First Amendment door.

An encouraging word: A time for change

By Howard Coop

The Season of Lent, associated with the lengthening of the days and the coming of spring, has begun. This period of forty days, not counting Sundays, precedes Easter, and it is a period of preparation for that special day that is observed in one way or another by Christians in all cultures around the world.

The observance of Lent is an ancient tradition in the Christian church. It dates back almost to the beginning of the Christian era. References to the observance of Lent have been found that date as far back as the middle of the second century A.D., and by the middle of the third century A.D., observance of the season of Lent had become a regular custom in some parts of the Christian community.

Across the years, the major focus of the observance of this special season has changed little. The primary emphasis has been, and continues to be, upon self-denial, self-examination, penitence, and renewal as means of attaining spiritual development and better discipleship for the Christian.

For some, the season is associated with self-denial that involves giving up something that is liked or desired for the specific period and no longer. Therefore, there is the possibility of over-indulgence before the period when self-denial begins. So, "fat Tuesday" has become a common name for the day before Ash Wednesday, the day when Lent begins.

For others in the Christian community, the observance of Lent is different; it involves more than giving up some particular thing for a specific period of time. Lent is a time for introspection and self-examination when one looks inwardly and determines what permanent changes - things deleted or things added - can be made that will lead to a better, richer, and fuller life.

Traditions, regardless of age, can have meaningful significance for life. Under certain conditions, they can change things in a dramatic way. Lent, if taken seriously by an individual, can be one of those meaningful and life-changing traditions.

News from Pleasant View Baptist

By Scena Ann Petrey

Sunday, Feb. 10, we welcomed the mission team who went to Naco back into our worship services. Those people who went are as follows: Bro. Kyle and Jessica Page, Bro. Jamie Lawrence, Shane Morgan, Thelma Foley, Mike and Barbara Bastin, Jerry and Loretta Brock, Josh and Miranda Brown, Josh Jacobs, John and Aaron Cook, Brenda Pennington and Keith Smith. While there they were able to complete many projects: wheel chair ramps, enlarged the worship area, tiled an area, duct work, installed windows and doors while sharing the gospel in the church and neighborhoods. All reported working hard but receiving so many blessings.

Bro. Kyle was back in the pulpit Sunday morning with "Given Joy by the Mercy of God" from Hebrews 12:18-29 as his message. The two points of his sermon were Christ is better than the law and our worship must be joyful.

Paul, the writer of Hebrews, described something that had happened in Exodus. While Moses went up on Mt. Sinai to receive God's law, God displayed His mighty power in such a way that it scared the people. The Israelites could not keep this law because of their sin. "There were not enough animals in all of Israel to sacrifice - only through Christ and His blood do we find redemption," emphasized Bro. Kyle.

The old agreement/covenant with Moses and the Israelites was replaced with the blood of Jesus - the PERFECT sacrifice.

In the passage from Hebrews the people were tempted to go back to living by the law. Jesus is better than the law. With the good news of the gospel, Jesus coming to earth, His death and resurrection, we should be a by-product of our encounter and relationship with Jesus. Our Joy should shine from within to show before the world. We have something to be joyful about!

We extend sympathy and prayers to the family of Bessie Snyder who passed away last week. She is Hobert Denny's cousin. We also extend sympathy and prayers to Tim Godbey, whose aunt Doris Blevins passed away last week also.

Congratulations to Bro. Matthew and Sarah Mofield. Baby Titus was born at 1 a.m. Monday, Feb. 11 in Lexington.

The senior adult Valentine banquet will be Thursday, Feb. 14 in the fellowship hall at 6 p.m.

Contact Bro. Matt for more information for the KHO that will be July 14-20. The total cost for the trip is $225 with a $50 deposit on Feb. 17.

A women's Beth Moore Bible study on Esther will be held at the Bluegrass Regional Real Estate office starting Feb. 19 at 5:30 p.m. Five more spots are available and the cost is $18. Contact Karen Clarkson for more information.

The Women of Joy

Conference will be in Sevierville, Tenn., on April 12-14. A $50 deposit is needed by next Sunday, to reserve your spot. Contact Elisha Lawrence for more information.

See Jennie McWhorter if you can commit to work in the kitchen for GLOW. One Wednesday each month for about two hours would be the time involved.

On March 8, 9 and 10, we will be holding a church-wide revival. Pastor Scott Kerry, pastor of Valley Creek Church outside Elizabethtown, will be the evangelist. Josh Brown, worship pastor of Valley Creek, will be our worship leader. Make plans to attend as you pray for the success of this revival.

Gilliam speaks to Stanford Lions Club

The Stanford Lions Club held its first monthly meeting on Monday, Feb. 4. “Uncle” Bob Swett made a wonderful pot of chili and dessert. The meal was followed by a guest speaker. Donnie Gilliam spoke to us about his position as manager and the importance of the Lincoln County Emergency Management Team. He took the position about two years ago. He has a dedicated team including volunteers.

They have put in place drills or exercises for preparedness in case of fires, floods, tornadoes, and yes, earthquakes, also. They have experienced a boating emergency at Cedar Creek Lake. Regular exercises are held at Fort Logan Hospital, the Stanford Fire and Police Departments and also at Lincoln County High School. Lincoln County now has established over 3,000 safe places to go to in case of a disaster - more than surrounding counties have. Thanks to the hard work and dedication of these citizens who care about the safety of the rest of us. Several questions followed as everyone was so interested in this vital information shared with us. The Lions Club meets at the First Southern Community Arts Center on the first and third Mondays each month at 6:30 p.m. March is open enrollment month - we welcome new members. There is a very useful gift to anyone who joins us in March. Sharon Woods, president, can be contacted for more information at (606) 669-2597.

Mr. Willie Joe Stewart remains in the hospital in Alabama and is not doing well. Mr. Glenn Gooch, Mrs. Margaret Brown, Mrs. Shelly Mitchell and Mr. Norbert Jarmon all went to Alabama over the weekend to visit with Willie Joe and his wife Rosanne Stewart. Sympathy is extended to the family of Mr. Claude Naylor. The funeral service was held on Sunday. He is the father of Mr. Scott Newcomb along with several step children. Sympathy is also extended to the family of Mr. Phillip Walker, son of Mrs. Pauline Walker. The funeral service was held on Tuesday at First Missionary Baptist Church. Tina Burnside and Kerry

Burnside visited Mrs. Laurie Burnside. Mr. Jeffery Jones of Nicholasville visited his mother, Mrs. Jennette Jones and his sister, Miss Theresa Jones. Elder Robert Coulter, Jr., is attending Campbellsville College and he made the dean’s list for the first semester. Elder Coulter is the pastor of Boneyville Baptist Church. Mr. Kelvin Givens of Cincinnati, Ohio recently visited his mother, Mrs. Sara Givens and several other family members. Thought for the week: Never let the sadness of your past and the fear of your future ruin the happiness of your present.

Lower your risks for a heart attack

By James A. Turpin, M.D.

Every year, nearly one million individuals in the United States suffer a heart attack. That number can be reduced if individuals recognize the symptoms and take steps to lower their risk factors for a heart attack. Following are some of the major risk factors for coronary heart disease: •Increasing age. Nearly four out of five people who die of coronary heart disease are 65 years of age or older. •Gender. Men have a greater risk of heart attack and have attacks earlier in life. At older ages, women who have heart attacks are twice as likely as men to die from them within a few weeks. •Heredity (including race). Children are more likely to develop heart disease if their parents also have heart disease. African Americans have more severe hypertension than whites and thus are at greater risk. •Smoking. A person who smokes has twice the risk of a heart attack than a person who does not smoke. •High cholesterol. The risk of coronary heart disease rises as blood cholesterol levels rise. •Physical inactivity. Regular, moderate-to-vigorous exercise plays a significant role in preventing heart and blood vessel disease. •Body weight. Individuals with excess body fat are more likely to develop heart disease and stroke, even if they have no other risk factors. •Diabetes. This condition seriously increases a person’s risk of developing cardiovascular disease. The primary symptom of a heart attack is pain or a feeling of heavy pressure in the chest, which might spread to the arms, neck, jaw or back. There may be nausea, dizziness and/or difficulty breathing. The symptoms may feel like indigestion or heartburn. If you or someone you are with experiences any of these warning signs, get immediate medical attention by calling 9-1-1 or the number of your local emergency medical services. Until help arrives, you can also chew a regular aspirin, if your doctor has recommended it. Dr. James A. Turpin is medical director of Ephraim McDowell Fort Logan Hospital’s Emergency Department.

Homemakers sponsor annual International Night

By Leoni Mundelius

The Lincoln County Extension Homemakers Association is holding its annual International Night on Tuesday, Feb. 19, at 6 p.m. at the Lincoln County Extension Office. Passport Around the World is the theme this year. Every club has chosen a country to represent, and researched it for presentation. They will also prepare food from that country for every guest to sample. You will fill up your plate as you travel from Puerto Rico, Italy, China, Philippines, Australia and U.S.A. welcoming you back home. Our main speaker for this event is Gina Martin. She is a Lincoln County native, who traveled with a medical team to Guatemala and performed free eye surgery to the disadvantage. She will share her adventure and experience about the people and their culture while being in the country for a week. The committee is hoping to fill the guests with new knowledge and to gratify their taste buds with the mouthwatering cuisine. This is open to general public. We invite everyone to come and join us for fun, food and entertainment. Men are very welcome to join us in any event and in our membership. Extension Homemaker members are encouraged to bring guests. The cost is $5 per person and all proceeds will go to our KEHA International Project, Kentucky Academy in Ghana. For more information, call the Lincoln County Extension office at (606) 365-2447.

Kings Mountain news

By Violet Bell/Beverly Murphy

The Pleasant Point Baptist Church hosted a Valentine soup, sandwich and dessert supper last Sunday night. The event was held in their fellowship hall and 39 people were there and enjoyed themselves very much. We were so sad to hear of the passing of Gordon Privet on Feb. 2. Mr. Privet and his wife were very good neighbors to my parents in Waynesburg for a number of years. When the weather was good, you would often see Mr. Privet walking around in his yard. He would always wave as you passed him. He will be missed by many people. Our condolences go out to his family.

We have reported recently about Ethelene Johnson being ill and in the hospital in Ohio. We are happy to report that Ethelene is at home now and doing just fine. Her two daughters, Janet and Brenda, have been watching over her and giving help when needed. William Jenkins, Jr. and his wife Sue spent Saturday night with Evelyn Terry and went to church with her on Sunday. Evelyn has had a lot of company recently and she enjoys it very much. My granddaughter Anna Helene Murphy celebrated her 11th birthday this past Sunday. While I was unable to be with her in Indiana, I did call her and wish her a “Happy Birthday”. It is always enjoyable talking to my grandchildren!!! Her great-grandmother, Helene Murphy, would have been proud of her.

We had no news to report last week and very little this week. If you have any family, church, or any news that you feel would be interesting to our readers, please call me at 365-2991.

As spring approaches, Grace Fellowship is gearing up to begin new ministries – both community outreach ministries and others within the church. Since the very beginning, Grace has wanted to be a lighthouse in the community, offering help to those in need.

There is an opportunity for GFC members to join in a new Prison Ministry at North Point Correctional Facility. Dr. Kevin Pettus, Associate Pastor at Grace, along with this Sunday School Life Group, will be heading up this outreach ministry. A sign-up sheet for those interested in helping with this ministry is at the information center in the foyer.

Melanie Hutti is heading up "Wonderfully Made Ministries" for children and adults with special needs. The goal is to meet the spiritual needs of these individuals and their families in church as well as providing community-based support services. A meeting to kick off this ministry was held Tuesday evening to make plans for support groups, summer day camp, and more. We are happy to welcome

Aaron and Jennifer Stampler has new Children's Ministry Leaders. Sunday evening, this ministry began with a trip to the bowling alley in Danville and a meal afterwards at CiCi's Pizza. There were 33 kids and 12 adults attending. Beginning next Sunday evening, Jennifer will be leading the young children (K- 1st grade) in TeamKIDS which is a high-energy ministry to encourage children to know Jesus Christ and grow in a relationship with Him. Aaron will be leading the older children (grades 2-6) in the "Vision" program.

We are pleased to announce that Mike and Kristi Poynter will be leading the Youth (grades 7-12) on an interim basis. In addition to regular weekly programs, Mike and Kristi will be planning some additional activities, including a trip to Winter Jam at Rupp Arena in March.

This coming Sunday evening Feb. 17 at 6 p.m. will be our "No Greater Love" banquet featuring a chili cook-off and other fellowship activities. See Julian Gander or Dave Muse for more information.

Women of Grace have resumed monthly meetings following the holidays. This group meets on the last Sunday evening of each month at 6 p.m. Several GFC women will attend the "Women of Joy Conference" in Sevierville, Tenn., in April. For more information, see Dana Muse or Kim Jones.

Senior Friends, the senior adult ministry at Grace, will begin their new year on March 12. "Seniors" meet on the second Tuesday of each month at 11 a.m. for a time of food, fellowship and devotions. Special programs and trips are also planned. See Jeanne Brown for more information.

The Men's Prayer Breakfast is held on the second Saturday morning each month and is a popular activity! Men have an opportunity to fellowship and enjoy a special time together and develop new friendships while cooking and cleaning as they enjoy a good meal. See Julian Gander for more information.

There will be a Child/Parent Dedication Service on Sunday morning, March 3. This is an opportunity for parents of children two years old and younger to publically make a commitment before the Lord to submit the child to God's will and to raise the child according to God's ways. Contact Kathy Coffee, GFC secretary, if you plan to participate.

Grace Fellowship Church is located on Hwy. 27, just one mile south of Lincoln County High School. Pastor Volva Brown would like to welcome you to our services. Sunday School Life Groups begin at 10 a.m. followed by the morning worship service at 11 a.m.

Wednesday evening activities including adult Bible study and all children and youth activities begin at 7 p.m.

If you can't attend church, don't forget to tune in to radio WPBK-FM 102.9 for a live broadcast of the Sunday morning service at 11 a.m. For more information, contact the church at 365-0502 or check out the website at www.gracefellowshipstandford.com.

Kentucky. Grandmother went to campus to get her.

After services Mariah had a wonderful time playing with Joe Hutchison's baby goats. She had been wanting to come to see them. Needless to say she is an animal lover.

Before actual worship began, other names were submitted for the secret prayer partner activity, and then each one, that wished to participate, drew names for themselves and for others who were absent.

During announcements, Rev. Scillely put great emphasis upon the Ash Wednesday service for this week at 7 p.m. The service will include symbols of Lent, anointing, Holy communion, candle lighting, special music by the choir and others, and poetry.

Sunday's message came from Luke 9:28-36. The emphasis was upon Jesus' journey towards Jerusalem which included the transfiguration. The scriptures, before and following the above listed scripture, reveal amazing works by the disciples because of Jesus' empowerment, Jesus feeding the five thousand because the disciples couldn't, and a boy being healed. Also, a voice spoke to Peter, James and John saying, "This is My beloved Son. Listen to Him." Read Luke 9. It will bless your heart.

Thanks go to Doug May, Chaz Garcia, and Mariah Scilley for helping Doris Scilley during Children's Church. Several Valentine cards were made to be given to some of our sick and shut-in members. One was to be sent to Ron Hunkins who is away from us in North Dakota.

After church the choir practiced songs to be used for Ash Wednesday.

After service Wednesday night, the choir will practice Palm Sunday and Easter Sunday music. Sunday practices will continue through Palm Sunday.

Everyone is welcome to worship at the Highland United Methodist Church at 10 and 11 a.m. on Sundays. This is a congregation where not only God knows our names and cares about us, but each one knows and cares about each other.

Activities at Stanford Nazarene Church

By Buford Edwards II

Sunday morning, Stanford Church of the Nazarene was blessed by the wonderful worship service as we raised our voices to praise the Lord and learn from His Word during Sunday school and morning worship! Bro. Buford brought the message from Luke 18 on the subject of "Justified". On Sunday night, we met as church family to discuss the 2013 vision for the Stanford Church of the Nazarene and the "5-Year Plan."

Come out Wednesday night for Christian Education Night. Our kids meet weekly and our adult class dubbed, "THE BOOK" club is currently working through Revelation. We are now in chapter 22 concerning the "End of the Prophecy."

The Jail Ministry meets every Sunday at 2:30 p.m. and the Nursing Home Ministry the first Tuesday of each month at 2 p.m. For more information, or to learn how to get involved, contact the church and leave a message.

The ladies meet the first Tuesday of every month at 6 p.m. in the fellowship hall. Their next meeting will be Tuesday, March 5.

We are planning a trip to Winter Jam in Lexington on Saturday, March 16. This event is for youth ages 12 and over. All youth will need a permission slip and spending money. If you have a youth that is interested, please contact Bro. Buford as soon as possible!

The Men's Group meets every other month on the second Monday of the month. The next meeting is Monday, April 8 at 7 p.m. in the fellowship hall.

The church has an active food assistance program. If you know of anyone or have a need yourself, please leave a message at the church.

Service times: Sunday school starts at 10 a.m., Sunday morning worship begins at 11 a.m., Sunday evening services at 6 p.m., and Christian Education Night is every Wednesday beginning at 7 p.m.

For more information about our youth group and children's programs, email the directors by logging on to our website at www.stanfordchurchofthenazarene.com

If you would like more information about our church and events, contact Pastor Buford Edwards at (606) 365-1260 or visit us on the web. Don't forget to also "like" the Stanford Church of the Nazarene on Facebook to receive updates and an encouraging word.

New Covenant Church has new service times

By Bethany Rowland

The service Sunday, Feb. 10 at New Covenant Church, was wonderfully filled with the presence of God.

Pastor, Bro. Joel Rowland, gave a wonderful sermon on "God rejoiced", reading text from Psalm 104:31 "The glory of the Lord shall endure forever: the Lord shall rejoice in his works." and Isaiah 62:1-5 "...and as the bridegroom rejoiceth over the bride, so shall thy God rejoice over thee."

God is calling us to rejoice in all that we do. No matter the situation or circumstance, God wants us to praise and worship Him. Why is God so concerned with us being happy and rejoicing? Because He is a rejoicing God and He wants us to be like Him.

Each day of creation God saw that it was good and likely rejoiced. Psalms. 65:8 says "thou makest the outgoings of the morning and evening to rejoice." The sun and moon rising, birds chirping, water rushing over rocks in a creek, tree leaves rustling in the wind, and every other part and sound of nature brings joy to God. All things were created for His glory, to give Him praise, including us.

When anything in His creation praises Him, God rejoices. When a sinner comes to His feet for salvation, He rejoices. When He created us, He did so for us to live and walk with Him, so, when we come to Him, nothing could bring Him more joy. In Luke chapter 15, Jesus gives the parable of the prodigal son returning home to his father. Just as the father rejoiced over his son returning home, God rejoices when we turn to Him and surrender our lives. Luke 15:10 "there is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth." If the angels rejoice, can you imagine what God must do? When we rejoice during a trial, God rejoices over our faith in Him. When we rejoice during persecution, God rejoices over our love for Him. God rejoiced when we came to Him, we should rejoice just because He loves Him. When we rejoice over Him, He will rejoice over us. Imagine how special you are that the King of Kings and Lord of Lords get up off the throne and rejoices, just for you.

We have a new service time! Please come out and be with us Sundays at 1 p.m. for Sunday school and 2 p.m. for worship service. Wednesday at 7 p.m. To hear this wonderful message and many others visit our website at Newcovenantholiness.webs.com and/or also on Facebook <http://www.facebook.com/newcovenantholiness>.

com and/or also on Facebook <http://www.facebook.com/newcovenantholiness>.

Everyone is welcome for praise and worship services and for our Trinitarian outreach programs. You can find all outreach programs and other upcoming events on our website along with many links and Bible studies.

Fairview Baptist Church news

By Shelby Lakes

On Sunday, Bro. Johnny Baker spoke of two Adams, two gardens, and two trees.

The two Adams are Adam of the book of Genesis, and Jesus Christ. God placed Adam in the Garden of Eden to have happiness and fulfillment, Bro. Johnny said. Isn't that what we want, he asked? Don't we want happiness in Jesus so we can have fulfillment in our lives?

The two gardens are the Garden of Eden and the garden where Jesus' tomb was.

The two trees are The Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil in the Garden of Eden and the cross that Jesus was crucified on. God gave Adam the opportunity of choice, Bro. Johnny said. And God warned Adam and Eve of what would come if they ate the fruit of the tree.

Satan tempted them, and they ate the fruit, and this was sin against God. Man is still sinful, Bro. Johnny said. If Adam (man) had not sinned, the second tree, the cross, would not have been necessary.

Bro. Johnny said Satan tempted Eve, telling her that she would surely not die if she ate the fruit of the tree, so she ate. He compared this with the temptations of today, when some convince others to sin. Some offer drugs, alcohol, and other things, saying, "It won't hurt you. Try it." But along with sin comes anguish and pain, Bro. Johnny said. Our generation wants to experiment with every sin. We can call sin a mistake, an error of judgment, or say we are human, but when we see the son of God on the cross, we will see how vile we can be.

The only way we can pay for our own sin is to go to the devil's hell, Bro. Johnny said. But he that knew no sin (Jesus Christ) became sin for us, meaning that our sin was placed on him.

Bro. Johnny closed quoting from the 23rd chapter in Luke. Here two thieves are being crucified with Jesus, and one of them says to Jesus, "Lord, remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom." And Jesus answers, "Verily I say unto thee, today shalt thou be with me in paradise."

We need to come humbly and with a repentant heart, like that thief, Bro. Johnny said. (End of sermon summary)

Those celebrating birthdays were Jennifer Gover, Laytham Rowe, Terry Oaks, Frankie Hale, and Nina Todd. George and June Callahan celebrated their anniversary.

113 attended Sunday school; 182 were present for the worship service.

Stuart Powell welcomes Speake as consultant

Patti Powell, Vice-President of Stuart Powell Ford-Lincoln-Mazda, announces the addition of Jamie Speake as Automotive Internet Consultant for the dealership.

A native of the area, Jamie is the daughter of Rex Speake (area president of Whitaker Bank in Garrard County) and Bobbie Speake. Jamie played softball in both high school and college. After a career ending injury she moved to Anaheim, Calif. and worked in entertainment with the Walt Disney Company. She holds a broadcasting and electronic media degree from Eastern Kentucky University and is looking to gain her Masters in news media and communications.

With a background in film, radio, and sales, Jamie brings a new perspective and energy to the dealership. The launch of Stuart Powell's Online AutoMotives promises to boost community and customer relations throughout the region.

Jamie will assist prospective customers through the online selection and education process of their vehicle shopping. The goal is to be the equivalent of a personal Internet search engine to shoppers as they begin or continue their search for a new or used vehicle through StuartPowell.com.

As prospective customers narrow their search and prepare to visit the dealership, she will introduce them to a sales consultant for the completion of their vehicle shopping experience at Stuart Powell.

She will also be introducing video into the dealership's marketing efforts, using her background in broadcasting. The community will now be able to digitally engage with the dealership, building a relationship before stepping through our doors.

Jamie may be reached at jamie@stuartpowell.com, on Twitter at @SPowell_IntGal, or at (859) 236-8917 ext 134, or on her cell phone at (859) 339-8399. The dealership is located at 225 South Danville By-Pass in Danville, KY.

Ephraim sponsoring free health screenings

Ephraim McDowell Health is sponsoring a free health screening on March 2 at Mt. Hebron Baptist Church in Lancaster. The free screenings will be offered from 8 a.m. to noon. You may call (606) 271-1373, Monday through Friday for an appointment, but walk-ins are welcome.

Health screenings that will be offered are cholesterol, glucose, blood pressure, heart rate, body mass index and stroke risk. After the screenings are complete, participants will have the opportunity to discuss their results with a licensed health professional.

Participants should not eat 12 hours prior to their screening if they would like to have the blood test that gives them a full lipid panel. This gives the participant detailed information including their HDL, LDL, triglycerides and glucose.

The screenings are open to the public for anyone 12 years of age and older. Children ages 12 to 17 must be accompanied by a custodial parent.

Social Security announces new online services

Michael J. Astrue, Commissioner of Social Security, announced the agency is expanding the services available with a my Social Security account, a personalized online account that people can use beginning in their working years and continuing throughout the time they receive Social Security benefits. More than 60 million Social Security beneficiaries and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) recipients can now access their benefit verification letter, payment history, and earnings record instantly using their online account. Social Security beneficiaries also can change their address and start or change direct deposit information online.

"We are making it even easier for people to do their business with us from the comfort of their home, office, or library," Commissioner Astrue said. "I encourage people of all ages to take advantage of our award-winning online services and check out the new features available through an online my Social Security account."

Social Security beneficiaries and SSI recipients with a my Social Security account can go online and get an official benefit verification letter instantly. The benefit verification letter serves as proof of income to secure loans, mortgages and other housing, and state or local benefits. Additionally, people use the letter to prove current Medicare health insurance coverage, retirement or disability status, and age. People can print or save a customized letter.

Social Security processed nearly nine million requests for benefit verification letters in the past year. This new online service allows people to conduct business with Social Security without having to visit an office or make a phone call, and very often wait for a letter to arrive in the mail. It also will reduce the time spent by employees completing these requests and free them to focus on other workloads.

People age 18 and older can sign up for an account at www.socialsecurity.gov/myaccount.

Once there, they must be able to provide information about themselves and answers to questions that only they are likely to know. After completing the secure verification process, people can create a my Social Security account with a unique user name and password to access their information.

People age 18 and older who are not receiving benefits can sign up for a my Social Security account to get a personalized online Social Security Statement. The online Statement provides eligible workers with secure and convenient access to their Social Security earnings and benefit information, and estimates of future benefits they can use to plan for their retirement.

In addition, the portal also includes links to information about other online services, such as applications for retirement, disability and Medicare.

"Given our significantly reduced funding, we have to find innovative ways to continue to meet the needs of the American people without compromising service," said Commissioner Astrue.

"These new enhancements will allow us to provide faster service to more people in more places."

For more information, please go to www.socialsecurity.gov/myaccount.

Ottenheim area news

By Dorothea Schlappi

Thursday night, Jan. 29, was very windy and tore some property. A neighbor's barn was damaged very badly, a swimming pool partly collapsed, some trees were blown down. I guess we were lucky here, a tornado never touched down but in some places in Kentucky it did. We never know what Mother Nature holds.

My crocus are blooming, I now have a small vase with them in the house.

Hint: When I make my own chicken or vegetable soup, I don't add any seasoning until I'm ready to eat. To a bowl of this soup I add one or two tablespoons of the dry ready stuffing bread crumbs (like Stove Top) to my bowl of soup. It gives the soup an extra boost and don't add crackers.

Eunice Schlappi had toe surgery and is laid up for awhile. We hope she'll soon be back on her feet.

Diane Link's grandson, Tyler, had serious surgery on his chest last week. Hope he'll soon be home from the hospital. Diane went to Massachusetts to be with him and sure ran into a blizzard. The snow there is very bad.

Our thoughts and prayers go to the Bessie Synder family in her passing last week. May they find comfort in our Lord during this time of need.

We would like to let the Brenda and Garland Elkins family know we are thinking of them at this time in the death of Brenda's sister, Margaret Howard who passed away on Jan. 31. May she be at peace.

Congratulations to Carolyn Sowders and Travis Pullum who were united in marriage on Saturday, Feb. 9 at St. Sylvester Catholic Church. Reception followed in the church hall decorated very beautifully. We wish them a long happy life together.

Lent begins this week, on Ash Wednesday, a special time to reflect on our lives, with God, before his Son rises again on Easter Sunday. It's a time of prayerful thoughts as he died for our sins, for this we are so thankful.

Happy Valentine's Day to everyone! True love is a gift from the heart of God, and on the eighth day, God looked down on his planned paradise and said, "I need a caretaker." So God made a farmer, and aren't we glad he did?

The system is more efficient than Lincoln County's warning siren system, because it can notify more people without maintenance costs or malfunctioning problems, he added.

The county's sirens can currently notify about 6,000 people "if they're all outside and listening for it," Gilliam said. As soon as the new system is online, Gilliam estimated it will be able to notify 10,000 people via landline phones and more people as they sign up for notifications via other devices.

Besides severe weather alerts, the CodeRED system will also allow county officials to notify the general population of things like Amber alerts, hazardous materials spills and road closures, Gilliam said.

Magistrates signed off on a plan to pay for two years of service from CodeRED using $15,000 of insurance money that was paid out to the county by the Kentucky Association of Counties to repair damaged warning sirens.

Gilliam said a KACo representative told him it would be OK for Lincoln County to use the funds for the CodeRED contract. As long as the funds are used for something related to emergency notifications, it's acceptable, he said.

Another approximately $11,000 of insurance money from KACo will be used to repair at least one emergency siren, Gilliam said.

Magistrate David Faulkner said the plan is a "great opportunity" for Lincoln County to try out a reverse 911 system without any cost for the county general fund.

Gilliam has approached the court on multiple occasions as far back as May 2012, encouraging magistrates to move forward with a reverse 911 plan.

There was some question previously as to whether the county was legally allowed to use the insurance money to pay for a reverse 911 system.

Had the fiscal court opted for reverse 911 last year, it could have entered into a three-year contract with DeltAlert for $12,000.

But DeltAlert was recently purchased by CodeRED and the $12,000 offer was taken off the table, Gilliam said.

Now that reverse 911 will be a reality, Lincoln County can phase out its siren system if it ever becomes too expensive or gets in the way of other technological advances, Gilliam said.

But until then, Gilliam said the county will continue to maintain the siren systems as long as it's feasible.

probation, I would not grant probation," Tapp said, while a sign language interpreter signed for Callahan, who is deaf. "That is a substantial history of assaultive behavior."

According to initial reports from investigators, Callahan allegedly plotted with three other deaf women — Autumn Drass, 23, Taquisa Horton, 27, and Kerry Zamara, 23, all of Columbus, Ohio — to break into Goode's home and kill her.

After a neighbor of Goode became suspicious and alerted Hustonville Police Chief Fred McCoy that something may be happening at Goode's house on July 3, McCoy said he encountered Drass and Horton armed with knives inside the residence.

After a scuffle, McCoy was able to place Drass and Horton under arrest.

Minnie Goode was not home during the break-in.

All four women were charged with attempted murder. Drass and Horton were also charged with first-degree burglary and Zamara and Callahan were charged with complicity in the burglary.

During his investigation, Lincoln County Sheriff Curt Folger said evidence suggested the alleged murder plot was motivated by revenge against Debra Goode, the daughter of Minnie Goode and a former lover of Callahan's who was helping a current lover of Callahan's escape an abusive relationship.

Genco asked Judge Tapp Friday to "strike any reference to the plot to commit murder" from the case's record, but Tapp declined, explaining that settling any facts of the case would have been necessary at trial, but not after a plea bargain.

But Tapp noted facts concerning the prior murder conspiracy charge would not be considered in the sentencing of Callahan for the lesser burglary charge.

Genco was hesitant after the sentencing to comment on how he was able to get Callahan's charges reduced so drastically.

"I don't want to say anything that gets misconstrued. To me, it really wasn't that shocking," he said. "If you look on the statute on what burglary is, burglary means you unlawfully enter with intent to commit a crime and that's what she did."

Genco said he cannot speak for the prosecution's reasoning on granting Callahan's plea bargain.

"As far as that goes, there's no doubt that the individuals entered the house and I think that's what it came down to," he said. "It's much more difficult to try to ascertain what's in people's minds."

Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Carol Hill said in January that it is her office's policy not to comment on ongoing cases. She said she did not want to comment on the record until all four women's cases are fully resolved.

Genco seemed to suggest Friday afternoon that the allegations of a murder plot are coming from the other three defendants.

"If you watch the plea, she (Callahan) said what they were there to do," he said. "Those other girls are the ones that are saying the other stuff, but I don't represent them."

Drass and Zamara last appeared in court in November and there were no future court appearances scheduled as of Friday afternoon. Horton was scheduled for a hearing at 1 p.m. Friday, but that appearance was canceled.

Rhonda Robinson, center, leaves the Lincoln County Judicial Center courtroom Friday after having a trial scheduled for March 25. Robinson is accused of being complicit in her husband's incestual activities, for which he pleaded guilty earlier this month.

Trial date set for woman accused of complicity to husband's incest

By Ben Kleppinger
ben@theinteriorjournal.com

STANFORD — A Kings Mountain woman whose husband has pleaded guilty to incest is facing a trial in March for charges she was complicit in her husband's actions.

Judge David A. Tapp has scheduled a trial for Rhonda Robinson, 47, to begin 9 a.m. March 25.

Robinson and her husband, Timothy, were indicted in October on charges Timothy Robinson had sex with a 15-year-old girl.

Timothy Robinson initially faced four counts of incest, four counts of unlawful transaction with a minor and one count of using a minor in a sexual performance.

Rhonda Robinson was charged with complicity to each of the nine counts against her husband.

On Feb. 5 — the day his trial was slated to begin — Timothy Robinson pleaded guilty to one count of incest and one count of using a minor in a sexual performance, a plea bargain that included a recommended sentence of 20 years.

At a court appearance for Rhonda Robinson Friday, her public defender, Jenny

Sanders, told Tapp she is going to begin requesting evidence from the state in preparation for the trial, but "we're still at this point negotiating a plea."

"I believe there are some social services records out there and some doctor's reports," she said. "I'll go ahead and request those from the Commonwealth and that way we'll be ready to go if it doesn't work out."

SWETT

From A1

I'll start using my sick and vacation days, which should (carry) me to about May 1st."

The actual date Swett retires could change — Miracle said Swett is willing to work with the city as a transition is worked out.

Miracle presented the letter to city council members Feb. 7.

"I think if Bob leaves this arts program, we have the potential of losing it all together," Miracle said. "He's done a really super good job."

Swett told council members the arts program is "growing and continuing to grow" and he does not want to see it go away.

In his letter, Swett recommended several local people he believes could serve as art director after him, naming WPBK broadcaster Renee Knies as his "#1 pick." Others Swett named include David Miracle, Bobb Woods, Jeff Lay and Christopher Long.

Alternatively, Swett also suggested a team of three — Woods, David Miracle and Roni Gilpin — could "cover all bases."

"I'd like to start working with someone the first of March if at all possible," Swett wrote. "We have built up a new and exciting program and I think we need to keep it going for the good of the city."

Councilmen Mike Southerland and Eddie Carter both expressed strong appreciation for the work Swett has done attracting people to Stanford.

"I don't think that we could have had anybody come into that position and put in as much work as you have," Southerland said.

Southerland noted he had never seen as many people in downtown Stanford as when an estimated 6,000 packed the streets for September's Arts and Music Festival. Carter credited Swett with helping Stanford earn the No. 1 host city ranking during the 2012 Bourbon Chase running event.

Councilman Tom Moser was less thrilled about the arts center's presence and questioned whether the city can afford to continue funding it.

Moser didn't like the idea that many of the people taking advantage of the arts center's programming aren't from Stanford.

"I don't know that the city can afford to take care of the arts department for the whole county and parts of other counties," he said. "I'm not fussing, I just want to know whether Stanford is utilizing it."

Swett noted it would be extremely difficult to get actual statistics on residency of arts center patrons, but estimated as much as 75 percent of the community participation the arts center gets is from people who live outside Stanford.

Mayor Miracle added he believes it's a good thing for Stanford if the program is drawing many people into the city who might not come otherwise.

Stanford's Community Arts Program was funded with a budget of $40,000 in the 2011-2012 fiscal year.

This fiscal year, the city council approved a budget that merged the arts program and the former Main Street program into a single Main Street and Arts Program, headed up by Swett.

The program's 2012-2013 budget is $48,577, with $39,000 of that cost expected to be covered by programming at the arts center.

Swett's salary and benefits cost about $35,000.

REPUBLIC

From A1

White said the consumer price index for transportation has risen more than 33 percent since Republic entered into the current contract.

And White pointed out that when the contract was awarded to Republic two years ago, the next-lowest bid was a full dollar more expensive per month and did not include trash carts for customers like Republic's bid did.

But White's request didn't seem to go over well with councilmen Eddie Carter and Mike Southerland, who both pointed out times are tough for everyone, not just Republic Services.

"I don't know that right now is a good time to pass that (cost) on to the citizens," Southerland said. "... If fuel was to take a radical spike and just go nuts, I wouldn't have a problem with it, because we can't starve you out. That wouldn't be fair to you guys."

Carter said there are many elderly people in Stanford living on fixed incomes who already make it by on a day-to-day basis.

"I see people every day ... they can't pay their rent, they can't pay their electric bill," he said. "We're all of us at this table been blessed. We've got good incomes and we can do what we want to do. We can go to Florida, we can go anywhere. But a lot of people in this town live on (fixed incomes)."

"Can I go to Florida with you?" Southerland quipped, earning a few laughs. "I'll split the gas."

Councilman Scottie Ernst, the only council member to ultimately vote against the increase, said he opposed the move because Republic agreed to a set rate for the duration of their five-year contract when they won the bid two years ago.

"My feeling is that you won the lowest bid, you knew it was for five years, you got it for five years," Ernst told White. "When you rebid three years from now, that's when we'll hash it out."

Republic's rates are set out in its contract with Stanford, but language in the contract does allow the company to "petition the City at any time for additional rate adjustments on the basis of unusual changes in the cost of operations."

The city does not have to grant petitions for increases in rates, but White said the company does have the ability to terminate the contract.

"We have the ability to exit through a provision," he said.

Council members Tom

Moser and Amy Hazlett seemed the most supportive of White's 5-percent request.

"I would rather have a 49-cent increase per month now than two years from now have $3 a month," Hazlett said.

Moser said he has to drive for his work and he's familiar with the cost of fuel eating into profits.

"I do a lot of driving and I charge people for what I do and I went up on mine because it costs me more to drive," he said.

"But you didn't have a five-year contract with the people, either," Southerland retorted.

Mayor Bill Miracle asked Moser if he'd be willing to make a motion approving the 5-percent increase, but Moser didn't take him up on the suggestion.

Eventually, Moser suggested the council approve half the requested increase and allow Republic to raise rates by 2.5 percent. Carter made a motion to approve Moser's suggestion and Moser seconded.

Ernst said his lone "no" vote had nothing to do with Republic's performance, which has been stellar.

"They've done a great job," he said. "It's small, but it's still an increase that I don't think should have been awarded, in my opinion. I'm one vote."

Lincoln County looks to lease out farm land

By Ben Kleppinger
ben@theinteriorjournal.com

STANFORD — The Lincoln County Fiscal Court is hoping to supplement its annual income by leasing out approximately 40 acres of land for crop farming.

Magistrate Joe Stanley said three county-owned fields south of the county animal shelter and road department along U.S. 27 could bring in $8,000 to $10,000 per year if the county leases them out to farmers who want to grow corn or soybeans.

"We really hadn't been doing nothing with it other than just letting someone cut hay off of it and we were generating no income," Stanley said. "Since this corn and soybeans has got so high, everybody's just running over each other to lease this land."

Magistrates voted unanimously Tuesday morning to advertise for bids on leasing the approximately 42-acre property.

Stanley, who is a farmer himself, said five or six years ago, farm land could be leased out for about $60 per year per acre. Now that the market price of corn and soybeans has shot through the roof, so has what owners can charge for crop land.

"I showed it to one guy and he told, 'I know the bid will be over $200 an acre,'" Stanley said.

Judge-Executive Jim Adams said leasing the property out would make substantially more money for the county than the interest the county could earn off selling the property.

Stanley estimated selling the property could bring anywhere from $120,000 to $170,000. If the county saved that money with current interest rates, it could earn about $2,000 per year.

Leasing the property could potentially earn the county four or five times that interest amount, and the county would still own the property.

"I just think it's the wise thing for us to do," Stanley said. "If we can get $8,000 to $10,000, it don't make no sense to leave it there."

In other fiscal court news, the court:

- accepted a $35,000 payment from Lincoln County Sheriff Curt Folger that all but erases the remainder of an approximately $62,000 loan the fiscal court made to the sheriff's office in 2011;
- approved giving $1,000 to the Nursing Home Ombudsman Agency; and
- approved a $2,500 change order to a bridge upgrade project on Martin's Trail.

Three charged with manufacturing meth

By Stephanie Collins
scollins@schurz.com

CRAB ORCHARD — Three people were arrested in a Lincoln County meth bust Wednesday morning after a shoplifting investigation.

About 7:30 a.m., Lincoln County Sheriff Curt Folger received a call about an individual shoplifting from a Crab Orchard convenience store.

Folger said the caller told him the suspect went toward Stanford Street, which gave him "a pretty good idea" where the suspect was headed.

Folger arrived at 336 Stanford St. and was met at the door by the home's renter, Jimmy D. Lamb, 36. Lamb told Folger the shoplifting suspect, Shon Berryman, 26, of Crab Orchard, was in the home.

Folger said when he entered the residence, he could smell a meth operation.

"You could smell the chemical smell really strong," he said.

Folger received consent to search the residence and located a meth lab in the kitchen area.

Folger said the suspects also had

Berryman

Lamb

tried to hide an active "shake-and-bake" meth operation in a backpack, which was located in the residence as well.

Police found Draino, salts, lithium batteries and "pretty much all of the ingredients to run an active lab," Folger said.

Lamb and Berryman were arrested and charged with manufacturing methamphetamine and unlawful possession of meth precursors.

Another resident in the house, Alicia York, 28, was also arrested on the same charges. All three were lodged in the Lincoln County Regional Jail.

Kentucky State Police Hazmat was called to clean up the two labs.

Folger also located an item shoplifted from the convenience store in the residence, according to a press release.

The three arrests make 10 total arrests for manufacturing methamphetamine in Lincoln County in less than five days.

Seven people were arrested Saturday for allegedly manufacturing methamphetamine in Stanford.

A flipped vehicle sits along U.S. 150 north of Stanford Sunday night. Doug Rayborn of the Crab Orchard area and his 16-year-old daughter were injured in the one-vehicle wreck and had to be airlifted to the University of Kentucky Chandler Medical Center. Rayborn was listed in fair condition Monday morning. Below, emergency responders work at the scene of the wreck.

STANFORD — A Lincoln County man and his daughter were airlifted with unknown injuries after a car flipped upside down north of Stanford Sunday night.

Doug Rayborn was driving his vehicle east on U.S. 150 around 6:45 p.m. when the wreck happened just outside Stanford city limits.

Lincoln County Deputy Sheriff Ryan Kirkpatrick said Rayborn's vehicle traveled out of its lane and dropped off the left shoulder of the road "for an undetermined reason."

"It went into a 180-degree slide, hitting a culvert, which caused the vehicle to flip onto its roof," Kirkpatrick said.

Rayborn, who is from the Crab Orchard area, and his 16-year-old daughter both had to be extricated from the vehicle. The extent of their injuries was unknown at the scene Sunday night, but Kirkpatrick said both of them were conscious following the wreck.

Rayborn and his daughter were airlifted to the University of Kentucky Chandler Medical Center in separate air-evacuation helicopters.

Rayborn was listed in fair condition at the UK hospital Monday morning.

Emergency responders were on the scene Sunday night until 8:45 p.m., directing traffic as the inverted car was loaded onto a flatbed tow truck.

Total haunted house cleanup cost $15K

By Ben Kleppinger
ben@theinteriorjournal.com

HUSTONVILLE — The city of Hustonville will likely wind up paying a little less than $15,000 to clean up the collapsed haunted house structure on Main Street.

City Council members have accepted a $9,800 bid from contractor Tommy Owens to clean up the remaining debris from the building, which collapsed Dec. 9.

Owens was the lowest of three bidders for the job; the other two bids were for $12,500 and $13,500.

Owens also conducted emergency cleanup work shortly after the building collapsed, knocking down portions of the structure that hadn't fallen yet and cleaning away debris.

Mayor David Peyton said he's spoken with Owens about the cost of the emergency cleanup and expects to receive an invoice for around $5,000.

A portion of an outer wall of the haunted house wall collapsed onto Liberty Road in February 2012, causing a 10-month road closure while city officials and the property owner, Paul Gray, battled over potential solutions.

The city was successful in gaining permission from the state fire marshal to tear down the building, but nature took things into its own hands in December, when the building collapsed in the midst of multiple days of heavy rain.

Widow sues hospital over magistrate's unexpected death

By Todd Kleffman
tkleffman@schurz.com

The widow of former Lincoln County Magistrate Dexter Todd has filed a lawsuit against Ephraim McDowell Regional Medical Center and others, claiming that the anesthesia he received at the hospital was a "substantial factor" in his death.

Brenda Todd of Crab Orchard filed the complaint two weeks ago in Boyle Circuit Court naming the medical center, Danville Anesthesia Associates, Dr. Bill E. Barnett and nurse Crystal Carpenter as defendants. It seeks an unspecified amount of compensatory and punitive damages.

None of the defendants has responded to the allegations made in the lawsuit.

According to the lawsuit,

Dexter Todd

Dexter Todd was admitted to the Danville hospital on March 28, 2012, for treatment of an unspecified condition. Barnett and Carpenter, a certified registered nurse anesthetist, were negligent in their treatment of Todd by "acts of commission and/or omission, and such negligence was a substantial factor in causing or bringing about the damages sustained" by Todd's estate and Brenda Todd individually, the complaint maintains.

The medical center and Danville Anesthesia Associates are "vicariously liable" for the actions of their employees, the lawsuit claims.

In a story about Todd's death, Lincoln County Judge-Executive Jimbo Adams said the magistrate checked into McDowell for a scheduled out-patient surgery but became seriously ill after being placed under anesthesia.

Todd remained at the Danville hospital, on and off a ventilator, for about three weeks until he was transferred to St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington, where he died on April 19, Adams said.

According to the lawsuit, "as a direct result of the negligence of the defendants, Dexter Todd incurred death, conscious pain and suffering," and his estate sustained medical and funeral expenses, and the loss of his ability to earn money.

Brenda Todd, the executrix of the estate, suffered the loss of her husband's love and companionship, the complaint states.

The lawsuit was filed by Louisville attorney Adrienne Worsham Kim.

Lady Patriots get stung by Yellow Jackets 57-46

by Nancy Leedy
VERSAILLES — The Lincoln County girls' basketball bus arrived here on time Monday. The team just lost its way.

The No. 13 Lady Patriots didn't look like a state-ranked team in the road game, leaving a lot to be desired offensively as they fell 57-46 to Woodford County at The Hive.

Lincoln coach Cassandra McWhorter said the loss, which snapped a seven-game win streak, was just 'ugly.'

"It was ugly start to finish," she said. "Give Woodford County credit. They've got a lot of talented girls. They've got a lot of ability on their team."

How ugly was it?
•Lincoln hit just 21 percent of its shots, going just 13-for-63 from the field.

•The team went the entire third quarter without a bucket.

•Lincoln experienced scoring droughts of three minutes and four minutes in the first and second periods.

•There was not one single Lady Patriot in double figures.

•Woodford outscored Lincoln 14-0 in the second-quarter scoring slump.

"They played us tough at our place last year so I knew coming up here tonight at their place that it wouldn't be an easy game, especially if we didn't come up here and shoot the ball well," McWhorter said. "Bottom line tonight was, we did not shoot the ball well. We did not put the ball in the hole and, when the ball does

Free throws lift Lincoln girls over Danville 66-62

By Hal Morris
hmmorris@amnews.com
DANVILLE — The Lincoln County girls had been making a concerted effort to get to the free throw line more often late in the season.

The Lady Patriots needed every last one of those trips Friday as they went 30 of 40 at the line, getting nearly half their points from the stripe to edge host Danville 66-62 for their seventh straight victory.

“Our goal is for us to get to the free throw line 20-plus (times) and keep them 12 and under,” Lincoln coach Cassandra McWhorter said.

Danville coach Judie Mason said it’s hard to win when the other team takes 21 more foul shots. The Lady Ads were 14 of 19 at the foul line.

“It is ... 40-19 and we’re pretty physical taking it to the basket,” she said. “But I’m pleased with the way we played. We’re not going to win if the other team makes 30 free throws whether we fouled or whether we didn’t.”

The teams played to a 72-69 double-overtime thriller in their first meeting on New Year’s Day, and this one was just as tight. There were 29 lead changes and eight ties. Danville never led by more than two points while Lincoln’s largest lead was eight late in the third quarter.

Sydney Harris scored a game-high 18 points and grabbed eight rebounds and Rachel Spangler and Kourtney Belcher each had 11 points for Lincoln (20-4, 6-0 45th District), which led 50-42 late in the third quarter and had Danville in foul trouble before the Lady Admirals made it nip-and-tuck the rest of the way.

“I expected it to be a tough game tonight — you’re playing Danville at their place. They’re playing well, and even with C.J. (McPherson) getting hurt, I knew that would maybe even give them extra motivation tonight,” McWhorter said. “Kasey (Young) is playing confident right now, Essence (Grey) is playing tough, Laken (Grey) is playing well. They’re a good, solid team. They’ve improved and Judie’s done a great job with them, and I expected it to be a battle.”

Lincoln led 50-47 entering the fourth quarter, but a layup from Laken Grey and 3-point-er from Alyvia Walker gave Danville the lead back at 52-50 with 6:17 to play.

There were five lead changes and four ties in the fourth quarter alone. Young and Laken Grey picked up their fourth fouls in the third quarter, and Essence Grey picked up her fourth with 6:12 to play. But Mason got great contributions from her younger players to keep the Lady Ads in it.

“I’m not surprised. When C.J. went down (with a season-ending knee injury), I knew we could replace her,” Mason said. “Our depth went a little smaller, but if Laken is not in foul trouble and on the bench it would be different. But when Laken got in foul trouble it was hard for us to compete.

“I had three eighth graders out there (Alyvia Walker, Novie Walker and Kennedy Walker) and they held their own, so I was pretty pleased with my three eighth graders.”

Young had 17 points and seven rebounds to lead Danville but missed her only free throw. She scored inside to give Danville a 59-58 lead, then Emily Fox scored off of Belcher’s steal to make it 60-59 Lincoln.

A free throw from Essence Grey, who had 14 points and seven rebounds, tied the game at 60-all with 1:41 to play.

Ciara Saylor then drained a 3-pointer from the top of the key to put the Lady Patriots ahead for good 63-60 with a little more than a minute to go.

“Ciara’s definitely able to knock down shots,” McWhorter said. “I think Ciara’s a great shooter and scorer and I like that she’s looking to do that a little more, and I hope she continues to do that.”

Danville failed to convert twice from there, and Harris went 3-for-4 at the line over the final 10 seconds to seal it.

“We know we can play with them,” Mason said. “It’s just two good teams competing out there and I just wish they’d let us compete.”

Laken Grey finished with 16 points for Danville (15-8, 3-3), which shot 22 of 54 from the floor.

Danville led 12-11 after a quarter. Spencer Sims scored eight of her nine points in the second quarter, the last bucket putting Lincoln up 28-23 with 3:12 left in the half.

“Spencer Sims came in off the bench and stepped up huge,” McWhorter said. “Emily (Fox) wasn’t scoring and Spencer was able to step up and get some points for us. That’s the advantage of having depth on your bench. You can count on other girls when maybe your top players are having an off night shooting.”

Lincoln led 31-25 when Essence Grey hit a jumper. Then after Fox missed a layup in the final seconds, Young grabbed the rebound and heaved a three-quarter-court shot which hit nothing but net to trim the Lady Patriots’ lead to 31-30 at the half.

After being held scoreless in the first half, Fox came out aggressive in the second. She hit two free throws and her steal and jumper gave Lincoln a 37-34 lead with 5:40 left in the quarter. She finished with eight points and eight rebounds.

“I told Emily in the second half, take it to the goal, get to the free throw line so that way you can get going,” McWhorter said. “And she did that right away.”

Walker’s 3-pointer put Danville up 42-40. But after Rachel Spanger hit two free throws, Jordan Leavell was whistled for a personal foul, then a technical foul for shoving Belcher. Belcher and Harris made four straight free throws to make it 46-42. Two free throws from Spangler made it 50-42, but Essence Grey had a three-point play and Novie Walker hit a put-back at the buzzer to trim the lead to 50-47 going to the fourth quarter.

Lincoln finished 17 of 45 shooting and outrebounded Danville 34-30.

not go in the hole, it makes everything else look ugly.”

Lincoln (21-5) was able to overcome a game-opening scoring slump to take the early lead. Sydney Harris hit from 3-point range 3 minutes, 50 seconds into the game to set off a 12-0 scoring run. Harris followed with a bucket off a steal, Ciara Saylor added her own 3-pointer and Kourtney Belcher scored off a Saylor assist. Emily Fox, who led Lincoln with nine points, added two free throws in the run to put the Lady Patriots up 12-2 with 2:50 to go in the first quarter.

Saylor added a second trey in the final minute, 50 seconds of the first, but Woodford (16-13) put up eight points to cut into the Lincoln lead. Hannah Morgan had five of the eight points off a 3-pointer and a field goal to make it 15-10.

Belcher opened the second-quarter scoring to put Lincoln up 17-10, but then the offense went cold. The Lady Patriots went scoreless for the next 4 minutes allowing the Lady Yellow Jackets to get things rolling and erase the lead.

Chelsey Ford, who had a game-high 20 points, ignited a 14-0 Woodford run with a three-point play. Shelby McDonald, who finished with 12 points, hit two layups in the run, Hannah Morgan and Jessica Morgan got a bucket apiece in the paint and Anastayzia Reed drained a 3-pointer to put the Lady Yellow Jackets on top to stay 26-19.

Chansler Gilbert finally put an end to the Lincoln scoring drought when she hit at the 3:22 mark of the second quarter. Belcher and Spencer Sims both hit jumpers late in the half and Belcher added a free throw toss to pull Lincoln back within 26-24, but Ford closed out the first-half scoring with two free throws to give Woodford a 28-24 edge at the break.

The Lady Yellow Jacket lead would be on the increase in the third quarter as the Lady Patriots’ field goal attempts, all 18 of them, missed their mark. Woodford, which shot 38 percent (19-for-50) from the field overall, went 5-for-14 in the third quarter, including 3-pointers from Caitlin Ferguson and Reed, to take a 42-33 lead into the fourth quarter.

Lincoln relied on the free throw line to keep Woodford from blowing open the game in the third quarter, sinking 9 of 13 free throw attempts.

But the Lincoln free throws, like the field goals, didn’t fall so well either, with the team going 17-for-27 overall at the line.

“We were getting to the free throw line but we couldn’t even get those to go in, and, when you can’t get your free throws to drop and get those to get you going, it’s just going to be a long night, a tough night. And that’s what it was,” McWhorter said. “We did what we wanted the second half. I mean, we were down, but I told the girls at the start of the fourth quarter, ‘One more foul and we’re in double bonus,’ but the free throws didn’t fall.”

Lincoln converted on 5 of 8 trips to the foul line in the fourth quarter and got slightly back on track from the field, hitting 4 of 19 shot attempts, but Woodford could not be caught. The Lady Yellow Jackets outpointed the Lady Patriots 15-13 in the fourth to secure the win.

and Johnson, a sophomore, at 8-for-13, including hitting 5 of 9 from 3-point range. The team also racked up the points at the line, sinking 21 of 27 free throw attempts, led by Whitman’s 8-for-11 stint.

“We would have had to have played really well because they have the big kid inside (Whitman) that’s really good and they shoot the ball very well,” Lincoln coach Jeff Jackson said. “They shot 70 percent. Danville shot 70 percent. That’s not doing a very good job defensively. We’ve got to change our thought process and our mentality between now and next Wednesday (district touney) or it could be a long night.”

Lincoln (13-16) traded leads with Catholic five times in the first quarter. Johnson rang up the first of his five 3-pointers to help the Knights take a 5-2 lead, but Brandon Pittman, who finished with 15 points for the Patriots, answered with his own triple to tie the game at 5-all then hit again from 3 after Catholic took a 9-5 lead. BJ Hoover, who scored 13 points, followed the second Pittman trey with a bucket to give Lincoln its first lead, 10-9, with 3:13 left in the first.

Whitman converted on a three-point play to put Catholic back on top only to have Jacob Conway, who led Lincoln with 19 points, collect WOODFORD (16-13) - Hannah Morgan 7, Jessica Morgan 6, Shelby McDonald 12, Chelsey Ford 20, Anastayzia Reed 6, Caitlin Ferguson 6.

“Woodford was a better team tonight,” McWhorter said. “They beat us and that’s the bottom line. Now, we’ve got to put it behind us and get ready for Senior Night Friday night and then tournament play starts next week.”

While disappointed with the loss, McWhorter said it’s something Lincoln can learn from.

“I told the girls that I don’t want to lose any time, but it might be just what the doctor ordered right before tournament time to get us awake and get our eyes open that it’s not going to be easy. Everybody’s going to bring their ‘A’ game and Woodford County brought it tonight. They shot the ball well and defended well, and we just couldn’t put it in the hole.”

Woodford was 15-for-26 overall at the free throw line.

his own three-point play for a 13-12 Pat lead. Michael Talbott drove inside with 13.8 ticks left on the clock to give the edge back to Catholic but Pittman scored off a Timmy Taylor assist with one second left to make it 15-14, Lincoln.

There were four ties in the second quarter before the Knights went on top to stay. Luke Hill put up a jumper with 3:45 left in the first half to knot the game at 23, then Reese Ryan answered inside for Catholic for the final lead change.

The Knights led 32-29 at the half, but it wasn’t until late in the third quarter that they started to pull away, taking control with a 15-7 run.

Neil Conley had just drained a 3-pointer in the third for a 40-38 margin when Catholic broke on its run. Johnson tallied eight of the 15 points in the run, nailing two 3-pointers, including a bouncer at the buzzer that put the Knights up 55-45 going into the fourth quarter.

“We did not compete on the defensive end,” Jackson said. “We lost people in transition. We weren’t very focused from the beginning, and we weren’t focused at the end. We let them go from basket-to-basket. We lost 3-point shooters. Our help-side was not very good on Whitman. He’s a load in there 1-on-1 and Luke (Hill) can’t guard him by himself. He’s got to have some help. We had some people that were supposed to help and they didn’t get there. They were too spread out.”

Lincoln never recovered from the third-quarter run. Catholic led by as many as 17 points in the fourth quarter before moving on for the win.

With the 45th District Tournament less than a week away, Jackson says Lincoln has a lot of work to do.

“I understand a sense of urgency if we’re going to try and get better between now and next Wednesday,” he said. “We’ve got a lot of issues we’ve got to deal with. I haven’t done a very good job of getting our kids mentally

FARM FACTS

By Dan Grigson
Lincoln County Extension Office

Beef calving management

It's calving season, a critical time of the year for any cow-calf operation. Management during this phase of production must be the best. Producers must strive to 1) get calves here alive, 2) keep them alive and 3) keep them healthy. It sounds straightforward, but it is often a challenge.

Any dead calf is an automatic $500+ loss. Any calf that gets sick in the first 45 days will weigh 35-40 pounds less at weaning than a calf that didn't get sick. Cows that have calving difficulty will rebreed later and more of them will be open. Calves that survive calving difficulty are twice as likely to get sick during the first 45 days of life.

The major causes of young calf death or illness are 1) Dystocia (calving difficulty), 2) Starvation, 3) Hypothermia (exposure), 4) Metabolic disorders, 5) Scours and pneumonia and 6) Trauma. Most of these causes can be prevented or reduced with good calving management.

Dystocia: Almost 50 percent of all young-calf deaths, birth to 24 hours old, are a result of calving difficulty. Observing cattle often and assisting cows and heifers early can reduce problems with dystocia. Cows should be checked three to four times (or more) per day. Heifers should be observed at least every four hours, if possible.

Cows that are in active labor should make good progress or deliver a calf in one hour. If they are not making progress, the position and size of the calf should be checked. A cow in active labor should not be left alone for more than an hour. Producers need to know the proper techniques to assist cows with out injuring the cow or calf. If producers have not been able to deliver a calf or make significant progress after 30 minutes of good effort, they should call a veterinarian for assistance. We have bulletins that will help you learn how to help with calving.

Starvation and insufficient colostrum: Calves that don't nurse quickly (within two hours) after birth often die of exposure or become weak and unable to nurse and starve. All calves should be checked to see if they have nursed within two hours of birth. Calves that have not nursed should be assisted or tube fed colostrum with a special calf feeder. Calves need one to two quarts of colostrum. Dry powdered colostrum is better than no colostrum, but it is not as good as fresh or frozen colostrum from cows.

Getting enough colostrum and the antibodies in colostrum is not only important for calf survival, but for its future health and growth as well. Calves that have high antibody levels in their blood stream by 24 hours after birth are less likely to get scours and will grow faster than calves with low antibody levels. Cows that don't mother their calves very well often have calves that do poorly or starve to death early in life. Calves that look cold, hunched up and droopy should be suspected of not getting enough milk. A quick check of his mom's udder (either tight and overfull or flat and milk-less) will often reveal the reason this calf looks hungry. He is! That cow and calf needs to be put in a pen or barn and observed to see if the calf is nursing and if the cow is accepting the calf.

One of the biggest mistakes producers make is not to tag calves at birth. A simple system is to give the calf a tag with the same number as its mother. This sure makes it easier to match cows and calves up and then to keep notes on cows. It is a good idea to put the birth date on the calf tag also.

Exposure: The effects of exposure can be minimized if care is taken to ensure calves nurse soon after birth. In addition, during extremely cold or wet conditions calves may need shelter for the first 24-48 hours of life. Chilled calves should be brought in for warming and assisted in nursing if necessary.

Metabolic disorders: The most common metabolic disorders in newborn or young calves are white muscle disease and weak calf syndrome. White muscle disease is actually a selenium deficiency, which results in failure of the heart and diaphragm muscles. Feeding a free choice cow mineral at all times should take care of this. Weak calf syndrome is a protein and energy deficiency in newborns. Weak calf syndrome can be prevented by making sure cows get extra protein and energy through grain, tubs, tanks etc... 45-60 days prior to calving.

Scours: Calf scours can be decimating to a cow-calf operation, but proper management during the first days of a calf's life can reduce problems with scours. Making sure calves nurse within two hours of birth increases the calf's resistance to scours. Cows should calve in a clean environment. Muddy cow feeding lots is one of the very biggest causes of calf scours. We need to work on keeping cows and their udders out of the mud. Pregnant cows should be kept out of the calving area until close to calving. Cow-calf pairs should be moved from the calving area to clean pastures by the time the calf is three to five days old, if both cow and calf are doing well.

Trauma: Trauma from being kicked, stepped on, run over or laid on kills a small percentage of calves every year. Trauma is usually a result of over crowded conditions in bedding or feeding areas. Cow-calf pairs need to be in pastures with plenty of room, and crowding of cows into calving areas should be avoided.

The extra effort producers spend on good calving management and newborn calf care will result in more calves at weaning, higher weaning weights and less stress for producers.

Loans for socially disadvantaged persons

USDA Farm Service Agency reserves funds each year to make loans to socially disadvantaged applicants to buy and operate family-size farms. A socially disadvantaged farmer is one of a group whose members have been subjected to racial, ethnic, or gender prejudice because of their identity as members of the group without regard to their individual qualities. For the purposes of this program, socially disadvantaged groups have been defined as women, Blacks or African Americans, American Indians or Alaskan Natives, Hispanics, Asians and Native

Hawaiians or other Pacific Islanders.

Types of Loans

- Operating loans may be used for various short and intermediate type credit needs, such as the purchase of livestock and equipment and annual operating expenses.
- Farm ownership loans may be used for the purchase and/or improvement of farmland and buildings.
- Microloans available to a maximum limit of $35,000 to assist the financial operating needs of family farm operations.

Who May Borrow

Individuals, partnerships, joint operations, corporations, limited liability companies, and cooperatives primarily and directly engaged in family-size farming operations may apply. A family size operation is considered to be one that a family can operate and manage itself.

Foreign persons must report land holdings

Kentucky USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) State Executive Director John W. McCauley, reminds foreign persons with an interest in agricultural lands in the United States that they are required to report their holdings and any transactions to the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture.

"Any foreign person who acquires, transfers or holds any interest, other than a security interest, including leaseholds of 10 years or more, in agricultural land in the United States is required by law to report the transaction no later than 90 days after the date of the transaction," said McCauley.

Foreign investors must file Agricultural Foreign Investment Disclosure Act (AFIDA) reports with the FSA county office that maintains reports for the county where the land is located.

"Failure to file a report, filing a late report or filing an inaccurate report can result in a penalty with fines up to 25 percent of the fair market value of the agricultural land," said McCauley.

For AFIDA purposes, agricultural land is defined as any land used for farming, ranching or timber production, if the tracts total 10 acres or more.

Disclosure reports are also required when there are changes in land use. For example, reports are required when land use changes from nonagricultural to agricultural or from agricultural to nonagricultural. Foreign investors must also file a report when there is a change in the status of ownership such as the owner changes from foreign to non-foreign, from non-foreign to foreign or from foreign to foreign.

Data gained from these disclosures is used to prepare an annual report to the President and Congress concerning the effect of such holdings upon family farms and rural communities in the United States.

For more information regarding AFIDA and FSA programs, contact the local County FSA office or visit the USDA Web site at <http://www.usda.gov>.

Women farmers, ranchers must file claims by March 25

Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack reminds Hispanic and women farmers and ranchers who allege discrimination by the USDA in past decades that there are 45 days remaining in the filing period closing March 25, 2013.

"Hispanic and women farmers who believe they have faced discriminatory practices in the past from the USDA have 45 days left to file a claim in order to have a chance to receive a cash payment or loan forgiveness," said Secretary Vilsack. "USDA urges potential claimants to contact the Claims Administrator for information and mail their claim packages on or before March 25, 2013."

The process offers a voluntary alternative to litigation for each Hispanic or female farmer and rancher who can prove that USDA denied his or her application for loan or loan servicing assistance for discriminatory reasons for certain time periods between 1981 and 2000. As announced in February 2011, the voluntary claims process will make available at least $1.33 billion for cash awards and tax relief payments, plus up to $160 million in farm debt relief, to eligible Hispanic and women farmers and ranchers. There are no filing fees to participate in the program.

The Department will continue reaching out to potential Hispanic and female claimants around the country to get the word out to individuals who may be eligible for this program so they have the opportunity to participate.

Call center representatives can be reached at 1-888-508-4429. Claimants may register for a claims package (by calling the number or visiting the website) or may download the forms from the website. All those interested in learning more or receiving information about the claims process and claims packages are encouraged to attend meetings in your communities about the claims process and contact the website at any time or call center telephone number Monday through Friday 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Eastern Time.

DEFENDANTS

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 2013, AT 10:00 A.M.
FRONT DOOR, LINCOLN COUNTY COURTHOUSE

Pursuant to a Judgment and Order of Sale of the Lincoln Circuit Court entered August 11, 2012, in the above-styled civil action, the undersigned Master Commissioner will sell the following real property located at 1394 Skyline Drive, Stanford, Lincoln County, Kentucky, at the front door, Lincoln County Courthouse, on Friday, February 22, 2013, at the hour of 10:00 a.m., or as soon thereafter as said property can be sold, said property being more particularly described as follows:

Lots No. 8, 9, and 10 of Lockout Heights Subdivision, Lincoln County, Kentucky, as shown by a plat thereof of record in Plat Book 2, Page 45, Lincoln County Court Clerk's Office.

This being the same property acquired by James Carrier and Jennifer Carrier, his wife, by deed from Earl Roberts Et Ux dated October 24, 2000, of record in Deed Book 312, Page 587, Lincoln County Court Clerk's Office.

The above described real property will be sold and conveyed subject to such valid and existing easements, restrictions, reservations, conditions, covenants and limitations apparent or of record in the chain of title.

The sale of the above real property will be made on a credit of thirty (30) days time with the privilege extended to the purchaser of paying the entire purchase price, or any part in excess of ten percent (10%) thereof, in cash at the time of the sale. If the sale be made on credit, the purchaser shall pay to the Master Commissioner immediately at the time of the sale ten percent (10%) of the total sale price and execute bond for the balance due in thirty (30) days, bearing interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale until paid, with a good and sufficient surety thereon; and the bond shall be secured by a lien upon said property sold which shall have the full force and effect of a judgment. The purchaser may pay the purchase price money due on the bond with accrued interest at any time before maturity.

The real property described herein is to be sold at the time and place stated; and shall be sold free and clear of all liens, indebtedness, interests and claims of the parties hereto, subject to any and all applicable statutory rights of redemption.

All delinquent ad valorem taxes, if any, interest and penalties will be paid out of the proceeds of said sale. The purchaser will be responsible for payment of the 2013 ad valorem taxes.

Possession of the real property will be given to the purchaser with the delivery of the deed of conveyance thereto. The purchaser will be responsible for all risks of loss to the premises upon acceptance of their bid at the time of sale.

The purpose of this sale is to satisfy the judgment of the Lincoln Circuit Court in the above-styled action in favor of Plaintiff in the sum of $61,245.65 plus interest, advances for the protection of the property, costs and attorney fees as authorized and provided in said Judgment.

For further information concerning the above sale contact: Hon. David E. Johnson, Attorney for Plaintiff, Lerner, Sampson & Rothfuss, P.C. Box 5480, Cincinnati, OH 45201-5480, Tel. #513-241-3100.

DEFENDANTS

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 2013, AT 10:00 A.M.
FRONT DOOR, LINCOLN COUNTY COURTHOUSE

Pursuant to a Judgment and Order of Sale of the Lincoln Circuit Court entered September 24, 2010, in the above-styled civil action, the undersigned Master Commissioner will sell the following real property located at 7650 Ky. Hwy. 698, McKinney, Lincoln County, Kentucky, at the front door, Lincoln County Courthouse, on Friday, February 22, 2013, at the hour of 10:00 a.m., or as soon thereafter as said property can be sold, said property being more particularly described as follows:

A certain tract or parcel of land lying and being in Lincoln County, Kentucky, and more particularly described as follows, to-wit:

Beginning at corner of G. Walls' line and the Geneva and Mason Gap road; thence North 30 West 175 feet to a stone; thence North 70 East 164 feet to stone; thence South 30 East 183 feet to black oak tree; thence South 70 West 164 feet to the beginning, containing 28700 square feet.

This being the same property acquired by Vicki Gordon and Henry Gordon, her husband, by deed from Vicki Gordon, a married person, dated January 3, 2005, of record in Deed Book 350, Page 427, Lincoln County Court Clerk's Office.

The above described real property will be sold and conveyed subject to such valid and existing easements, restrictions, reservations, conditions, covenants and limitations apparent or of record in the chain of title.

The sale of the above real property will be made on a credit of thirty (30) days time with the privilege extended to the purchaser of paying the entire purchase price, or any part in excess of ten percent (10%) thereof, in cash at the time of the sale. If the sale be made on credit, the purchaser shall pay to the Master Commissioner immediately at the time of the sale ten percent (10%) of the total sale price and execute bond for the balance due in thirty (30) days, bearing interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale until paid, with a good and sufficient surety thereon; and the bond shall be secured by a lien upon said property sold which shall have the full force and effect of a judgment. The purchaser may pay the purchase price money due on the bond with accrued interest at any time before maturity.

The real property described herein is to be sold at the time and place stated; and shall be sold free and clear of all liens, indebtedness, interests and claims of the parties hereto, subject to any and all applicable statutory rights of redemption.

All delinquent ad valorem taxes, if any, interest and penalties will be paid out of the proceeds of said sale. The purchaser will be responsible for payment of the 2013 ad valorem taxes.

Possession of the real property will be given to the purchaser with the delivery of the deed of conveyance thereto. The purchaser will be responsible for all risks of loss to the premises upon acceptance of their bid at the time of sale.

The purpose of this sale is to satisfy the judgment of the Lincoln Circuit Court in the above-styled action in favor of Plaintiff in the sum of $33,752.35 plus interest, advances for the protection of the property, costs and attorney fees as authorized and provided in said Judgment.

NOTICE OF SALE

THOMAS GUYON

DEFENDANT

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 2013, AT 10:00 A.M.
FRONT DOOR, LINCOLN COUNTY COURTHOUSE

Pursuant to a Judgment and Order of Sale of the Lincoln Circuit Court entered November 10, 2009, in the above-styled civil action, the undersigned Master Commissioner will sell the following real property located at 3045 Bowen Road, Stanford, Lincoln County, Kentucky, at the front door, Lincoln County Courthouse, on Friday, February 22, 2013, at the hour of 10:00 a.m., or as soon thereafter as said property can be sold, said property being more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING at an iron pin and cap set in the north margin of Bowen Road and corner to Baker (DB 163/443); thence along said road N 86 degrees 24' 52" W 20.06' to a point and corner to Bernard (DB 217/175); thence leaving the road with the line of Bernard N 1 degree 26' 48" E passing a ex. witness monument at 2.57' and at 197.57' (#5 I.P. & C set) a total distance of 199.57' to a post; thence N 89 degrees 07' 43" W 153.06 feet to a point in the line of Bernard; thence leaving Bernard and through the property of Robbins four (4) calls: N 00 degrees 44' 40" W passing a witness monument set at 2.00' a total distance of 196.90' to an #5 I.P. & C set; thence N 10 degrees 12' 56" E 211.24' to an #5 I.P. & C set; thence N 11 degrees 13' 09" E 106.37' to #5 I.P. & C. set; thence S 83 degrees 45' 13" E passing a witness monument set at 145.62' a total distance of 148.62' to a post in the line of said Baker; thence with Baker S 2 degrees 54' 15" W 696.94' to the point of beginning, containing 2.137 acres according to a survey conducted by Lynch Surveying, Inc. #3096 dated February 11, 2003.

This being the same property acquired by Thomas Guyon by deed from Shelly Robbins, a single person, dated February 13, 2003, of record in Deed Book 331, Page 657, Lincoln County Court Clerk's Office.

The above described real property will be sold and conveyed subject to such valid and existing easements, restrictions, reservations, conditions, covenants and limitations apparent or of record in the chain of title.

The sale of the above real property will be made on a credit of thirty (30) days time with the privilege extended to the purchaser of paying the entire purchase price, or any part in excess of ten percent (10%) thereof, in cash at the time of the sale. If the sale be made on credit, the purchaser shall pay to the Master Commissioner immediately at the time of the sale ten percent (10%) of the total sale price and execute bond for the balance due in thirty (30) days, bearing interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale until paid, with a good and sufficient surety thereon; and the bond shall be secured by a lien upon said property sold which shall have the full force and effect of a judgment. The purchaser may pay the purchase price money due on the bond with accrued interest at any time before maturity.

The real property described herein is to be sold at the time and place stated; and shall be sold free and clear of all liens, indebtedness, interests and claims of the parties hereto, subject to any and all applicable statutory rights of redemption.

All delinquent ad valorem taxes, if any, interest and penalties will be paid out of the proceeds of said sale. The purchaser will be responsible for payment of the 2013 ad valorem taxes.

Possession of the real property will be given to the purchaser with the delivery of the deed of conveyance thereto. The purchaser will be responsible for all risks of loss to the premises upon acceptance of their bid at the time of sale.

The purpose of this sale is to satisfy the judgment of the Lincoln Circuit Court in the above-styled action in favor of Plaintiff in the sum of $70,499.62 plus interest, advances for the protection of the property, costs and attorney fees as authorized and provided in said Judgment.

For further information concerning the above sale contact: Hon. Jerry R. Howard, Attorney for Plaintiff, Reisenfeld & Associates, LPA LLC, 3962 Red Bank Road, Cincinnati, OH 45227, Tel. #513-322-7000.

Lincoln students invited to apply for Rogers Explorers

The Center for Rural Development is accepting applications through March 4 from eighth-grade middle school students in Lincoln County interested in developing their skills in math, science and technology this summer at the 2013 Rogers Explorers youth leadership program.

The program, held three days and two nights on a college campus, provides hands-on learning experiences in these in-demand career fields and builds leadership skills –all while students get to see what it is like to live and study on a leading Kentucky college or university.

Members of the local American Legion Post 345 provided Highland Elementary with two bicycles (one girl's and one boy's) to give away as prizes. All students in kindergarten through third grade that received a score of Distinguished in state reading or math testing results were qualified for the drawing held in December. Emily Martin won the girl's bike and Jacob Addington won the boy's bike.

For more information, call (606) 677-6000 or visit <http://centertech.com/leadership/rogers-explorers/> to download an application form. All applications must be completed and mailed to The Center for Rural Development, 2292 South U.S. 27, Suite 300, Somerset, KY 42501, by March 4th deadline.

Thirty students will be selected to attend each of the four 2013 Rogers Explorers summer sessions. All lodging, meals and program expenses (with the exception of transportation to and from the campus host site) are provided free of charge to participating students.

Rogers Explorers is presented in partnership with the University of the Cumberlands, Lindsey Wilson College, Eastern Kentucky University, and Morehead State University.

Since 2006, approximately 450 students have graduated from Rogers Explorers and have been encouraged to work toward building their future careers in Southern and Eastern Kentucky.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE
COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY
28TH JUDICIAL DISTRICT
LINCOLN CIRCUIT COURT
DIVISION NO. I
CIVIL ACTION NO. 12-CI-00166

CITIMORTGAGE, INC. PLAINTIFF

vs. NOTICE OF SALE

JAMES A. UNDERWOOD DEFENDANT

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 2013, AT 10:00 A.M.
FRONT DOOR, LINCOLN COUNTY COURTHOUSE

Pursuant to a Judgment and Order of Sale of the Lincoln Circuit Court entered August 10, 2012, in the above-styled civil action, the undersigned Master Commissioner will sell the following real property located at 1012 Tom Hackley Road, Danville, Lincoln County, Kentucky, at the front door, Lincoln County Courthouse, on Friday, February 22, 2013, at the hour of 10:00 a.m., or as soon thereafter as said property can be sold, said property being more particularly described as follows:

LEGAL DESCRIPTION

EXHIBIT "A"

TRACT 1: Located and being on Hackley Lane in Lincoln County, Kentucky, and being designated as Tract K and more particularly described as follows: BEGINNING at an iron pin, corner to Hackley Lane and other real property of River Ridge Development, Inc., thence along other property of River Ridge Development the following calls: S 77° 31' 27" E 132.25 feet to an iron pin, S 75° 6' 17" E 303.90 feet to an iron pin and S 59° 24' 8" E 464.77 feet to an iron pin, corner to Hanging Fork Creek; thence along Hanging Fork Creek the following calls: S 27° 27' 36" W 98.98 feet to an iron pin, S 18° 15' 30" W 92.09 feet to an iron pin; S 8° 25' 11" W 74.31 feet to an iron pin, corner to other property of River Ridge Development, Inc., thence N 80° 16' 8" W 520.71 feet to an iron pin, corner to Morgan; thence along Morgan's line S 62° 53' 42" W 321.89 feet to an iron pin, corner to Morgan and other property of River Ridge Development, Inc., thence N 7° 56' 13" E 225.94 feet to an iron stake; thence N 36° 43' 33" E 200 feet to an iron stake; thence N 53° 16' 27" W 217.80 feet to an iron stake in Hackley Lane; thence N 32° 15' 3" E 161.22 feet along Hackley Lane to the point of beginning, containing 7.884 acres, more or less.

There is retained by River Ridge Development, Inc., its successors and assigns, a 20 foot right of way running adjacent to and on the north side of the call described supra, as follows: S 62° 53' 42" W 321.89 and thence continuing along the western end of the call N 80° 16' 18" W for a distance of 50 feet so that a 2.375 acre tract along Hanging Fork Creek does not become land-locked as a result of the aforesaid conveyance. It is agreed and understood by and between the parties hereto that should the aforesaid 2.375 acre tract be hereinafter conveyed to Earl Morgan, his heirs and assigns, or Stuart G. and Linda K. Wells, his or her heirs and assigns, so that the 2.375 acre tract has a outlet thru one of the aforesaid properties as a result of a merger of the 2.375 acre tract with either Morgan's whole property or the said Wells' whole property, then this right of way is extinguished thereby. Otherwise, it still remains in full force and effect.

TRACT 2: Located and being on Hackley Lane, Lincoln County, Kentucky, and being designated as Tract B and more particularly described as follows: Starting at an iron pin in the east right of way (margin) of Hackley Lane corner to Laughlin (aka River Ridge Development, Inc.) and Tract "C", thence with Tract "C" N 62° 43' 33" E 138.32 feet, N 8° 13' 21" E 221.49 feet to an iron pin existing; thence with Laughlin N 7° 55' 33" E 226.00 feet to an iron pin set and being the point of beginning of this survey; thence with Laughlin N 53° 16' 27" W 217.80 feet to an iron pin set 25' east of the center line of Hackley Lane; thence with Hackley Lane N 36° 43' 33" E 200 feet to an iron pin set 25' east of center line of Hackley Lane corner to Laughlin; thence with Laughlin S 53° 16' 27" E 217.80 feet to an iron pin set; thence continuing with Laughlin S 36° 43' 33" W 200.00 feet to the point of beginning and containing 1.000 acre.

Wells N 72° 51' 23" W 265.29 feet to the point of beginning for this description and containing 0.682 acres by survey. This description prepared from a physical survey conducted by Austin & Gooch Engineering, Douglas G. Gooch, KY. RLS #3118, dated 12/8/97, which is incorporated herein by reference as if fully copied herein.

This being the same property acquired by James A. Underwood by deed from Kenneth Wayne Portwood Et Ux dated March 17, 2008, of record in Deed Book 377, Page 707, Lincoln County Court Clerk's Office.

The above described real property will be sold and conveyed subject to such valid and existing easements, restrictions, reservations, conditions, covenants and limitations apparent or of record in the chain of title.

The sale of the above real property will be made on a credit of thirty (30) days time with the privilege extended to the purchaser of paying the entire purchase price, or any part in excess of ten percent (10%) thereof, in cash at the time of the sale. If the sale be made on credit, the purchaser shall pay to the Master Commissioner immediately at the time of the sale ten percent (10%) of the total sale price and execute bond for the balance due in thirty (30) days, bearing interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale until paid, with a good and sufficient surety thereon; and the bond shall be secured by a lien upon said property sold which shall have the full force and effect of a judgment. The purchaser may pay the purchase price money due on the bond with accrued interest at any time before maturity.

The real property described herein is to be sold at the time and place stated; and shall be sold free and clear of all liens, indebtedness, interests and claims of the parties hereto, subject to any and all applicable statutory rights of redemption.

All delinquent ad valorem taxes, if any, interest and penalties will be paid out of the proceeds of said sale. The purchaser will be responsible for payment of the 2013 ad valorem taxes.

Possession of the real property will be given to the purchaser with the delivery of the deed of conveyance thereto. The purchaser will be responsible for all risks of loss to the premises upon acceptance of their bid at the time of sale.

The purpose of this sale is to satisfy the judgment of the Lincoln Circuit Court in the above-styled action in favor of Plaintiff in the sum of $187,125.09 plus interest, advances for the protection of the property, costs and attorney fees as authorized and provided in said Judgment.

For further information concerning the above sale contact: Hon. Stephanie A. Maguire, Attorney for Plaintiff, Lerner, Sampson & Rothfuss, P.O. Box 5480, Cincinnati, OH 45201-5480, Tel. #513-241-3100.
